WHAT ARE COOKIES?
Cookies are text files, containing small amounts of information, which are downloaded to your browsing device (such as a computer or smartphone) when you visit a website. Cookies can be recognized by the website that downloaded them — or other websites that use the same cookies. This helps websites know if the browsing device has visited them before.

WHAT ARE COOKIES USED FOR?
Cookies do lots of different jobs, like helping us understand how the Site is being used, letting you navigate between pages efficiently, remembering your preferences, and generally improving your browsing experience. Cookies can also help ensure marketing you see online is more relevant to you and your interests.

We use cookies to recognize your browser or device, learn more about your interests, and provide you with essential features and services and for additional purposes, including:

- Recognizing you when you sign-in to use our services, which allows us to provide you with service recommendations, display personalized content, and provide other customized features and services.
- Keeping track of your specific preferences.
- Conducting research and diagnostics to improve our content, and services.
- Preventing fraudulent activity.
- Improving security.
- For measuring and analyzing the performance of our services.

Our cookies allow you to take advantage of some of our essential features.

WHAT TYPES OF COOKIES DO WE USE?

We collect certain information via cookies and similar automated means when you use the website, some of which may be personal data. Cookies and similar technologies do not gather your unique personal data, like name, date of birth, gender, or email. Rather, the information collected by cookies and other automated means is generally about your devices and your activities on your devices, such as search history, IP address, browser used, operating system and settings, access times, opens, clicks, and downloads of our email, and referring URL. If you are using a mobile device, we may also collect data that identifies your device, settings, and frequency of usage.

HOW LONG WILL COOKIES STAY ON MY BROWSING DEVICE?

The length of time that a cookie remains on your computer or mobile device depends on whether it is a "persistent" or "session" cookie. your device. See the section below on how to control cookies for more information on removing them before they expire.
